VERITY:

I see you handle your weapon well.

JAMES BOND:

I have been known to keep my tip up.

VERITY:

Do you mind? I think I've come undone.

JAMES BOND:

Why not?

REFEREE:

Hit. Positions. Play.

VERITY:

Feast your eyes on the finest blade in the club.

JAMES BOND:

Gustav Graves?

VERITY:

MmMm. His publicist, Miranda Frost. My protégè. Gorgeous, isn't she? She took the gold at Sydney.

JAMES BOND:

By default, if I remember.

VERITY:

Default? The one who beat her OD'd on steroids. Miranda deserved that gold.

JAMES BOND:

Now she's teaching Graves how to win one.

VERITY:

He only plays for cash. He's won so much, nobody else wants to fight him. Do you want to meet him?

JAMES BOND:

Absolutely. Lead on.

VERITY:

Gustav?

GUSTAV:
Verity....And Mr...?

JAMES BOND:
Bond. James Bond.

GUSTAV:
Have we met before?

JAMES BOND:
Oh, I think I'd remember.

GUSTAV:
Of course you would. My mistake.
Are you a gambling man, Mr. Bond?

JAMES BOND:
If the stakes are right.

GUSTAV:
A thousand a point too much for you?
Care to place a bet, Verity?

VERITY:
No, thanks. I don't like cockfights.

GUSTAV:
Shall we?

JAMES BOND:
Excuse me.

GUSTAV:
Best of three hits?

REFEREE:
Positions. Ready. Play.
En garde.
Hit. Positions. Play. Hit.

GUSTAV:
Two-nil. Do you want to continue?

JAMES BOND:
Do you want to up the wager?

GUSTAV:

How much can you afford?

JAMES BOND:

Let's play for this.

I picked it up in Cuba.

I believe it's one of yours.

GUSTAV:

My, my, they do get around.

But then diamonds are for everyone.

Brilliant specimen. Completely flawless.

JAMES BOND:

And chemically identical to African conflict diamonds.

GUSTAV:

Then you're about to lose something very precious.

REFEREE:

Positions. Ready. Play.

En garde.

JAMES BOND:

Oh, dear... You want to continue?

GUSTAV:

Of course I want to bloody continue!

But since we're upping the wager.....let's up the weapons, shall we?

Let's do this the old-fashioned way.

First blood drawn from the torso.
